Miss Esther Dear friend

I will try and write you a few words today, as I am feeling pretty Blue, I guess you think I have forgotten you, or I would have wrote sooner I do not want you to think that at all, But I guess you have forgotten me, it looked that way to me Sunday or would forget me pretty soon, But I hope you will not.

Miss Esther Some people sayes that When a man is once thoroughly in love,

it changes the whole scope of his thoughts feelings and ideas. That he in short is not the same individual in point of intellect that he was before he experienced the delightful sensation of a sincere personal attachment This seems to me a Rational Theory if I can Judge By my own experience When I Reflect upon my position as your favored friend my happiness knows no bounds
The sun of heaven shines Bright and glorious every one around me looks

pleasant, and contented and I feel as though the creator of the universe had made this beautiful world specially to confer bliss upon us poor mortals I never felt so before there was always something wanting success in business matters may have been cheering and comfortable but yet my happiness was incomplete I lacked a loving heart to beat in unison with my own, in your affection my dearest Esther I have found consolation, and I hope and trust that our future career will be one of

happines unalloyed indeed I feel That it will be so for my feelings and affection are much too strong ever to Wander from one who is so good and generous and I hope always ^{to} merit your unaffected Regard, No more

I Will close for This time hoping to hear from you soon I am ever your friend

Remember me When far far away and only half awake and on your Wedding day send me a piece of cake

P.S. Miss. Esther I said
I was coming to Preaching Sunday I do not know whether I can be there or not know
