Dear Mama, Ellis, and Dennard,

I have been looking for a letter from you all for the past month but as it didn't come I thought I would write to see why you all don't write. Did Ellis' underwear fit and did he like it? Dennard looks like you would have written. At least mama, you could have written a card. But in case you have written it might have gotten lost. Lenard wrote day before yesterday. He had a headache as usual or something was bothering him. Wish he would be satisfied. Didn't he tell you that he was getting more than just $21.00 a month? He wrote us that he was getting the same as when he went into the army. He exchanged Mr. Howard's shoes or went to exchange them and they didn't have any size to fit him but would have by next Thurs. so we will have to wait until then. I will send you the Feb. and March issues of True Story your son is out isn't it?

Well, I have dinner ^{works} done as Everette ~~Conover~~ ate the No. 8 station which is close enough to come in for dinner. He has been over at No. 11, Ellis, but now is back at 8 and has Archie at No. 11. Amos ate dinner here yesterday
but that was Lillies day off. I think she is going to put in a telephone. Hope so.
He went to the telephone office yesterday and she talked to them about it.

Answer soon please. Or if you all don't have time just say so.

Love,

Emma Deaw
