Diboll -- The Lumber and Wood Products Capitol Of The South. Home Of The Temple Industries

Little "D"

From now until October 1, readers of this newspaper are in for a lot of reading concerning the 1956 edition of Diboll Day.

Official date for the celebration has been set for September 29. And tentative plans call for combining the old July 4 barbecue with this year's Diboll Day. Which is a definite improvement on last years program.

—pd—
To me, Diboll Day is really something. Its a day when all of us can relax and have fun, while spending a minimum of money. And the money we do spend goes to an honest-to-goodness, down to earth cause. Our Diboll Day dollars do not go overseas or to a group of people we have never seen or never will see. They are spent right here in Diboll.

—pd—
You really have to be away from your hometown a couple of years in order to appreciate an event like Diboll Day.

My how I imagine city folks would love such a local celebration! To be able to attend a gathering of three or four thousand people, to smile and talk and have fun with them all, would seem to me to be the ultimate in the freedoms and liberties upon which this great country was founded.

—pd—
Changing around a bit we find the August 25 political runoff upon us.

The voters chief duty in this runoff will be to elect a governor. So far, Price Daniel has the inside road to Austin highest political seat with a 162,000 lead in the July 28 primary. It will be interesting to note who gains the majority of W. Lee O Daniels votes in he runoff.

—pd—
My guess is that most of the voters will take an indifferent attitude because of the Daniel lead and stay at home. On the other hand, I think Diboll and Angelina County voters will give Yarborough an even larger vote than they did in the primary.

But even at that, it looks like a clear-cut victory for Daniel unless potential Yarborough backers 'get out of the sack' and head for the polls on August 25.

—pd—
A FEW NOTES: Notice that Paul's Cafe now has drive-in service—Roads through the old Conn Place, now owned by Arthur Temple Jr. are being opened; no housing development underway in sight yet — Maynard Schlenke talking of expanding flower shop into Lufkin territory — Ele Baggett's 5 per cent reduction on fire policies is real saving for Diboll Insurance Agency policy holders (me for one)

—pd—
Sherod Powell and family are real proud of 1956 model, air conditioned, Oldsmobile — A visitor at The Pine Bough last week was Bill Daniel, brother-in-law of Price Daniel — Ralph Magill is zoning chairman of Lions Club Area 8, not Chairman of Zoning Committee as was reported last week — John Lea was in bed latter part of last week with what was thought to be the measles! — Bennie Rector was loser by several dollars when a culprit robbed a Dr Pepper machine at his service station last week.

—pd—
W. R. Beaumont in his column, "I Could Be Wrong" last Wednesday said that his teletype-setter machines enable The Lufkin Daily News to print much more news than his crew could set manually. This is certainly true. We of The News-Bulletin must omit, though regretfully, many news items due to lack of time on the linotype. For those of you who have been wondering it takes considerable time to set the Little D column in type. — The time element involved is the

Diboll Day Set For Sept. 29; Daniel To Arrange Program

The Canvas Cathedral Evangelist

Since 1947 many millions of people have gone to church in a tent — a mammoth canvas cathedral under the open sky — or in great auditoriums where a dedicated evangelist named Oral Roberts reads the Bible, interprets New Testament teaching for today's understanding, and through his prayers and his simple appeals recruits active followers for Christ.

His goal is to save one million souls in 1956 through revival crusades and radio and television programs over more than 750 stations. Already this year his ministry has won nearly 600,000 converts.

Since January 1st of this year, Reverend Roberts has held eight revivals. At these meetings, in daily services, more than 800,000 persons heard him preach and almost 40,000 pledged themselves to active Christian service.

His current revival schedule includes crusades in Tyler, Tex., August 10-19; Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 7-16; Bakersfield, Calif., Oct. 5-14; Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 30-Nov. 4; Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 13-18; and Raleigh, N.C., Nov. 27-Dec. 2.

The Tyler crusade will be held in Old Stewart Airport on Kilgore Highway, behind TV station KLTW, in the 18,000 capacity tent.

In Tacoma the revival will be held in the tent at South 38th Street at Sprague.

The Bakersfield meeting site will be at the New Fairgrounds, South P Street.

The 1956 Diboll Day celebration has been set for September 29. The announcement was made this week by Booster Club president Horace Stubblefield.

In his announcement of the date, Stubblefield said that several changes have been made in the tentative program that will differ slightly with last year's activities.

First, about twice as many bands are expected to perform in the big parade on that Saturday morning.

Second, a barbecue luncheon will be available at the park adjoining the Scout House at noon. The program of the day will center around the Scout House following the barbecue. A big plate of tasty barbecue will be available to all for the minimum cost of 50c, Stubblefield said.

THE PROGRAM

In the parade, trophies will be given to both white and colored bands. Awards for civic, commercial, and industrial floats have not been decided upon.

A full afternoon of entertainment will be on tap following the barbecue at noon. Program arrangements will be made by J. Shirley Daniel and members of the Program Committee. (See Committee Assignments listed elsewhere in this issue).

NO FOOTBALL GAME

There will be no football game on Saturday, Sept. 29. Diboll will play Shelbyville as their Homecoming opponent Friday night, Sept. 28, at Lumberjack Stadium.

Diboll Day Queen will be awarded her crown Saturday afternoon rather than at night, as was the procedure last year.

LINING UP SHOW

Stubblefield told The News-Bulletin that Diboll might be able to get the Angelina County livestock and swine show located here on Diboll Day, although no definite decision has been made.

As was the case in 1955, there will be rides for the children, and interesting attractions for adults as well. Program arrangements are far from complete, according to Daniel, who said he would make announcements from time to time as new attractions are added.

PERMANENT SITE

The Boosters will try to make the area around the Scout House the permanent site for Diboll Day activities. Tentative plans call for concession stands, the queen's platform, etc to be constructed before the big event is unfolded this year.

H. C. White, Sr is in charge of raising funds for Diboll Day in advance of the big date. He has made no announcements as to what methods will be used to make money for the queens.

Logging contests may also be lined up for the program later, as several changes usually are made until a few days prior to the date of the celebration.

Revival at the First Baptist Church continues through Sunday, August 19. Brother E. P. Hardin, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Port Acres is the evangelist.

Brother Hardin will preach on Saturday night of this week on THE SIGNS OF THE TIMES—Sunday mornings sermon subject will be HEAVEN and Sunday night the Evangelist will bring the message — "IF I HAD BUT ONE SERMON TO PREACH".

All Diboll has been made aware this week that we have not had preaching of the caliber Brother Hardin has brought us in many days. This Evangelist stays with the Word of God and fearlessly preaches Hell, Hot, Death Certain and Eternity Long — Brother Turner, pastor of the local church invites you to attend the services each morning at 9 a.m. and each evening at 8:00 p.m.

Buying It At Wholesale May Be No Bargain

By only a modest employment of imagination, it can be seen that buying in your home town is a better bargain than "buying wholesale" somewhere else. The difference between wholesale cost and retail selling price is the prosperity factor, they say. Kept in his own community, this difference may well be responsible for better business or a better job for the buyer, and so return to him benefits far greater than any small saving he might think he is making by buying "wholesale" somewhere else.

NOTICE

TO WHOM IT may concern; I wish to make known beginning Sept. 1st. I will be glad to keep your child 5 days a week in my home. At night will baby-sit in home per hour.

Representatives from twenty odd retail establishments were on hand at The Pine Bough Tuesday night for the second official meeting of the Diboll Merchants Association.

Members of the newly formed association met Tuesday night to vote on several recommendations drawn up by a five man committee. Composed of Ralph Magill of Cash Drug, Julius Bird of The Pine Bough, Charles Hanks of Diboll State Bank, Sherron Powell of Powell Grocery, and D. C. Holder of Holder's Grocery and Feed, the committee was appointed at the association's initial meeting Tuesday night, July 4 at The Pine Bough.

At the July 4 meeting, those in attendance elected Bob Scoggin of Village Furniture president of the association. D. C. Holder was named vice-president and Ele Baggett of Diboll Insurance Agency was installed as the secretary-treasurer. The group then named the five man committee to draw up suggestion on such things as: Initiation fees; dues, charter and rules, and the duties of both members and officers. A this committee meeting.

PERSONALS

Mrs. R. B. McKinney has returned home after a fine weeks visit to see son in North Hollywood, Calif. On to San Francisco to the home of her grand children and Oakland to see friends. She reports a very enjoyable trip and the weather pleasant.

ing, held last Thursday night. Plans were also made to initiate a Trade In Diboll campaign in connection with the series by the same name currently carried in The News-Bulletin.

All actions and resolutions formed by the committee were to have been subject to approval of the association at the meeting Tuesday night. Results of the meeting were not known at press time.

INDUSTRY ATTENDS

Representatives of the various Diboll industries were on hand at each of the group meetings. It was decided, however, that this was to be an organization of merchants, rather than industry, or a combination of the two. Industry representatives assured the group that their firms would stay in close contact with the association and could be called upon for help in some instances.

TO BOOST TOWN

"Primary objective of the Diboll Merchants Association is to further the interests of Diboll in general," president Scoggin told the group in his acceptance talk.

"We hope to eventually have a full-time secretary who can extend a helping hand to new citizens and new business establishments," Scoggin said.

FIRST OF ITS KIND

This is the first such business club to be organized in Diboll. Names of charter members will probably be released in two weeks.

The Cubs had a team batting average of .345, although they lost the championship to the Yankees. Dan Fenley's Yanks finished 2 games ahead of Alf Tidwell's Cubs. Moody Smith's Indians followed in third place, while Bobby Farley's Dodgers completed the standings from their cellar position.

Tommie Fenley was the league's winningest pitcher with a 7-1 record. The single loss was the first of his LL career.

Away on Her Birthday? She'll Love Your Long Distance Call

Every woman likes to be remembered on "her" day. And there's no better remembrance than a long distance call, if you can't be with her.

By calling after 6:00 PM or on Sunday, when rates are still lower, you'll find it's even more economical.

TIPS ON TRAVELING WITH BABY

When the whole family looks forward to summer vacation trips and week-end holidays, take baby along to share the family fun. A little careful planning in advance will assure a happy baby and a relaxed mother.

For housekeeping convenience in the car, hang a shoe bag over the back of the front seat. Shoe pockets have a place for every essential: towels, washcloths, disposable diapers, and favorite toys.

On a trip, don't be a soiled diaper carrier! To cut the laundry quota, keep a supply of Chux Disposable Diapers. Use once and discard. New Chux has a plastic film back for waterproof security, and medication to protect tiny travelers from diaper rash.

Before a train ride, let the little one get accustomed to a baby harness. This is a handy device to prevent baby from rolling out of bed during travel naps.

For that trip by air when ear pressure increases during take-offs and landings, give baby his bottle at these times. It will make him swallow naturally and relieve ear discomfort.

* The new Chux Disposable Diaper is an all-in-one waterproof panty and diaper that stretches to conform to the body for snug fit.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Thompson of Hull visited in Diboll last week. Elmer has just attended a coaching school.

Social Security Affect Many By Changes

Several important changes in the old-age and survivors insurance program were made on Aug. 1 when President Eisenhower signed into law the 1956 social security amendments. L. R. James, District Manager of the Social Security Administration at Lufkin, commenting on the significance of the amendments, said that there is hardly a community that will not be affected in greater or less degree, by these changes.

James explained that the amendments added three new types of payments to the program; monthly benefits at reduced amounts to women at age 62, monthly payments to disabled workers as early as age 50, and payments for children past the age of 18 who became disabled before reaching 18. Another provision of the new law brings additional people under the program, including more farm owners and operators, and self-employed lawyers, dentists, chiropractors, veterinarians, optometrists, and optometrists. This leaves doctors as the only self-employed group not covered by social security.

There are a number of other technical changes in the law, but James said that first reactions show that by far the most interest is being shown in the reduced retirement age for women and in the provision for cash disability payments at age 50.

Under the new law, women workers and wives of men receiving retirement benefits will receive payments on a reduced scale if they apply before reaching the regular retirement age of 65. Wives and mothers can receive full-scale payments beginning at age 62. Payments for women who qualify under the new provisions can begin as early as November, but James pointed out there is no need for hurry in applying for payments, since applications filed before December, 1957 will assure full payments all the way back.

James said that one of the most significant changes made by the amendments is the provision for payments to disabled persons before age 65, but he cautioned that the requirements for these payments are very strict.

First of all the disabled person must have worked under social security 1 1/2 out of the last 3 years just before he became disabled and at least 5 years of the last 10. If he meets this work requirement he must then give medical proof that he is totally disabled for substantial gainful work of any kind. As in the case of payments for women, James again pointed out that it is not necessary to file a claim for payment at once. Applications cannot be accepted until October 1, and actual payments will not begin until July 1957.

ENJOY A SUNDAE—AT HOME!

By the way, did you know that it was in Evanston, Illinois where "sundaes" were discovered? Way back in the days of Sunday blue laws the town fathers, in order to keep youngsters from hanging around soda fountains, forbade the sale of "sodas" on Sunday. Immediately, fountain owners substituted a luring mixture of ice cream and sauce—without soda—which came to be known as a "sundae". Soon even adults found it pleasant to spend some part of a Sunday eating these delightful concoctions!

For a fine home-made sundae, keep this heavenly mousse in the freezer all the time . . . and keep handy plenty of Log Cabin Syrup for the final delicious touch!

MAPLE-WALNUT MOUSSE

1/2 cup maple-blended syrup 1/4 cup cream, whipped
4 egg whites 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup walnut meats, finely chopped

Fold egg yolk mixture into egg whites. Then fold in whipped cream and vanilla, blending well. Add nuts. Place in 2 freezing trays of refrigerator or in individual souffle cups. Set control for coldest freezing temperature and freeze until firm. Freezing time, 2 to 3 hours. Makes 10 servings. Top with generous quantities of maple-blended syrup and chopped walnuts.

WHO'S THE GOOD SPORT?

"Seems to be more men than ever playing golf this summer". George stowed his bag of clubs in a hall corner. "Links were almost crowded this afternoon."

"That I'm all in favor of," said Molly. "Good exercise keeps you men out in the open."

"Good for that middle-aged spread," George chuckled.

"And another thing I just thought of," Molly continued. "Maybe it will take the place of hunting, for some of you so-called 'sportsmen'."

"What do you mean 'so-called'—I thought—"

"I don't see anything sporting in a grown man going out with a big shotgun and killing birds and squirrels and such harmless little creatures. That's what," the Mrs. added.

"Now wait a minute!" George began.

"I'll admit," Molly went on, "it might be sporting if the bird and squirrels had shotguns, too, and could shoot back. It would sort of give them a sporting chance to go on living!"

George was silent a moment. "My game's getting better all the time. Maybe I'll shoot a 90 tomorrow!"

Daniel Outlines His 5-Point Program

AUSTIN—Senator Price Daniel, candidate for Governor, has advocated a five-point program for State action to bolster belief for farmers and ranchers—"who face the worst drought in Texas history."

Daniel declared: "I have done all within my power as a Senator to speed up and expand the Federal drought relief and make credit easier for our family-size farmers and ranchers. In the Congress I have supported every measure that would help the people in agriculture regain their fair share of the national income, including 90 per cent of parity on basic crops."

Daniel's program is as follows:

1. A State water and soil conservation program tailored to local needs including State participation—either in loaning the funds or backstepping loans—from private sources—in the water projects of local units of the government.

2. A State Constitutional Amendment setting up a rotating fund, financed by bonds, from which loans could be made to farmers and ranchers who face mortgage foreclosure or drought disaster. Daniel said this would help protect the family-size farms and ranchers which are hit the hardest by present conditions.

3. Stepped-up research to develop drought-resistant crops, control water-stealing brush and weeds, and build up soils for water absorption and retention.

4. Research into means of converting salt water to fresh water usage.

5. Research into the feasibility of artificial "rainmaking". Daniel said, "The State must leave no stone unturned in the fight of drought disaster."

New Development To Be Held Up Here

It was learned this week that the temporary hold-up on the colored housing development is due to several outstanding mineral rights. Federal Housing Administration is withholding on its loan until this technicality can be overcome. The new addition will be located next to the park in the colored district, sources said.

Christians Are Devoted To Restoration Of New Testament Christianity

The Book of all books is the Bible. It is a treasure for the poor, a solace for the sick, a guide for the lost and the hope of the dying. It is the basis of the Christian religion and worth infinitely more to the people of the world than all other books combined.

Let us respect it profoundly. The Bible is God's Word. It is God-breathed. It is a revelation of God, of God's Son, of God's purpose, of God's plan to save lost men. In all the world there is no literature as beautiful, as sublime, as ennobling, as helpful to wayward men as the Bible. The fact that it has withstood the fearful onslaughts of countless foes during the centuries and is today the most widely read and the most dearly loved of all books is proof within itself of the sublimity and divinity of the book. Let those who criticize it account for its amazing vitality. Let those who ridicule it write a better one, if they can! Since the Bible is God's great Book, let us respect it profoundly lift it above all other books in the world.

Let us divide it properly. The Bible is a wonderful library. The sacred writings contained therein should not be thought of as one book, but as many individual books — sixty-six in all. These sixty-six books divide themselves into two grand parts, namely, The Old Testament and The New Testament. The Old Testament consists of thirty-nine books and was written in the Hebrew language; the New Testament consists of twenty-seven books and was written in the Greek language.

The Old Testament books contain the record of the covenant of God with the Jewish people and covers centuries of time. The New Testament books, which contain God's final revelation to man, were written within the scope of one century. Though the Old Testament contains a wealth of material that is informative and inspirational to the student, we need to remember that we are not living under the Old Testament but under the New.

When he opens the New Testament, there are certain portions or divisions the student should recognize. First, biography (Matthew, Mark, Luke and John), which if properly studied will cause one to believe in Jesus Christ of Nazareth as the Son of the living God. Second, his-

Rev. J. D. McNeal will take over pastoral duties of the Diboll Congregational Methodist church September 1, 1956, officers of the church announced today. Rev. McNeal brings his wife, Juanita, and one daughter, Diane, with him to Diboll from Palestine, Texas.

He will also be connected with A. J. Popham, at Pop's Barber Shop when not in the pulpit at the Congregational Methodist church. Rev. McNeal said he was happy to be a new resident of Diboll and extended everyone a cordial invitation to attend services at the church. At the Congregational Methodist, Sunday worship consists of: Sunday School at 10 a. m.; preaching at 11 a. m.; CMYS at 7 p. m.; and preaching at 7 p. m.

story (Acts of the Apostles). This is the book of conversions and to the thoughtful reader, reveals God's plan of salvation to the alien sinner. Third, the Epistles (beginning with Romans and closing with Jude). From these the new born babe in God's family learns how he should live as a Christian. And fourth, prophecy (the book of Revelation). This marvelous literary production reveals the trials and final triumph of the faithful. In order to realize the greatest good from Bible study, the student must realize these divisions

Let us read it reverently. Of what value is food unless we eat it, of water unless we drink it, of pure air unless we breathe it? Of what value is God's great book unless we study it? "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the wicked, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of scoffers: but his delight is in the law of Jehovah and on his law doth he meditate day and night" (Psalm 1:1-2).

The Bible will work wonders in our hearts and lives, if we only give time to a careful and prayerful reading of it. The Bible will shed light on our path, reveal the plan of salvation, give visions of a brighter day, and lead us to heaven, if we but give it a diligent study. A number of good things happen to us when we read the Bible. It works effectively in us (I Thess. 2:13). It gives light for one step more (Psalm 119:105). It instructs, reproves, corrects, inspires us (2 Tim. 3:16). It gives faith and it increases that faith (Romans 10:17). It greatly strengthens us (I John 2:14; Acts 20:32). It gives joy unspeakable (John 15:11). It imparts unto us the heavenly life (John 6:65).

TEXAS POWER & LIGHT COMPANY

Highlights and Sidelights

From Your State Capitol...

ASTIN—The eyes of Texas are on Chicago this week. And, politically speaking, the state is in one man's pocket.

SEN. LYNDON JOHNSON heads the 112-member Texas delegation, each of whom will cast one-half vote of the state's 56 non-binding votes. They are pledged to support him as a favorite son nominee until he releases them.

Thereafter they will vote under the unit rule, probably for whatever candidate is favored by Sen. Johnson. All delegates and the 10 alternates were selected by the May convention with the senator's approval.

Another Texan Speaker Sam Rayburn, figures prominently in convention affairs. He will be presiding over a presidential convention for the third time.

SEPTEMBER CONVENTION IN MOUNTAIN—Who will win out and how at the September State Democratic Convention is a subject of heated debate.

Actual outcome will not be known until the meeting gets under way in Fort Worth. Rival conservative and liberal delegations will struggle for nearly 600 seats. Convention control hinges on these places.

Executive and county conventions named some 377 definitely liberal delegates, about 224 conservatives. But neither side can control the 1900-vote convention without the contested seats.

Mrs. Kathleen Voigt of San Antonio, liberal leader, charged last week the conservative executive committee planned to "steal" the convention. She asked that the May state convention which was recessed rather than adjourned, be reconvened to take charge of the situation.

Executive Committee Chairman George Sandlin dismissed Mrs. Voigt's charges as "the same old thing, every two years."

He promised the committee would give all contesting delegations a fair hearing and seat those legally entitled to places. He predicted the convention to be made up of middle of the road conservatives "with no ax to grind."

As for the May convention, he felt the intervening precinct and county conventions had made it past history.

RE-HEARING ASKED IN SANTA FE CASE—Awaiting the Supreme Court when it reconvenes in October will be a motion for re-hearing in the long contested Santa Fe Railway case. In July the court upheld the right of unions to make closed shop agreements in the railway industry. Such contracts are prohibited by the state "right to work" law but allowed by the federal railway act.

In their motion, railway attorneys asked the court either to reverse the July ruling or to modify it. They contended that union contracts should allow only for collection of "dues and assessments necessary to support collective bargaining action.

NO COMMENT

Washington—Some Republicans in both Congress and the Administration seem to believe that they can win votes by a "soft" attitude toward the Taft-Hartley Act—but many other vigorously condemn this abandonment of principle.

The appeasement movement is a far cry from the stand taken by the late Senator Taft, co-author of the law. He campaigned for equality between employers and employees—and contended the Taft-Hartley Act protected both the rank and file union members and the public. He won a great victory in his contest for re-election to the Senate in 1950—when the Taft-Hartley Act was the principal issue.

Congressional experts in labor legislation who are not subservient to union "bosses" insist—the Taft-Hartley Act not only should be continued but also be strengthened. They maintain it has been weakened by interpretations of the National Labor Relations Board and the courts—and strengthening amendments are greatly needed.

The President's recommendations—President Eisenhower has recommended some changes in the Taft-Hartley Act. Some of them command wide industry support, while others are opposed by industry.

The President, in 1954, called for legislation to protect the local states in their right to pass labor laws affecting health and safety—laws jeopardized by a Supreme Court decision, holding that the federal government had occupied the field.

A secret ballot on the question of a strike—another Administration recommendation—was vigorously assailed by labor union spokesmen.

Extension of the right of free speech—a right impaired by interpretation of the law—also was urged.

MITCHELL'S PLATFORM—Secretary of Labor Mitchell,

Pine Bough Is Host To Merchants Meet

Julius Bird, operator of The Pine Bough restaurant, said he was proud that his restaurant was chosen as the official meeting place for the Diboll Merchants Association. The local eatery treated twenty-odd merchants to an evening meal last Tuesday. The meal consisted of small filet mignon baked potato, salad, lime sherbert and coffee.

Bird said that the Hometown

however, is one of those who have gone beyond the White House program—and he has been accused of seeking to appease labor union "bosses."

Among other things, he has advocated repeal of the 17 state work laws—but failed to win White House support.

The "Mitchell platform" is reported to be, in effect, a frank appeal for labor union votes, in spite of the record showing that the platform has repeatedly failed.

THE CONGRESSIONAL ELECTION—Labor legislation in the past has not been exclusively a partisan matter in Congress. The Taft-Hartley law was passed over a presidential veto, with a majority of the Democrats supporting the legislation. Many amendment proposals failed in a Republican Congress—and the recently Democratic-controlled session ignored the issue.

Friends of the Taft-Hartley Act say that sound labor legislation can be maintained only in a courageous Congress, regardless of party control. An Secretary of Labor Mitchell says the Administration—if returned to office—will renew the 1954, 1955 and 1956 Taft-Hartley law recommendations of the President.

The AFL-CIO political organizations have already opened their campaign to win control of Congress. The first step is distribution of the AFL-CIO analysis of the record of the 84th Congress—a record condemned as inadequate.

The labor union political leaders say they want a "liberal" Congress—one meaning one which will accept their program. Deviation to any extent is barred.

Barbecue each Friday evening at 6 p.m. at the Pine Bough was turning out to be a big success. The menu, consisting of barbecued beef, pork, or chicken can be served to more than 100 people at one sitting, Bird declared.

Visitors frod almost all the 48 states have dined at the restaurant since its premier opening on Sunday, June 17. Some of the names and places registered to date are: Judson Blair of Buenos Aires, South America; R. W. Amaloug, Jr. of Pittsboro, Pa.; Arnold Anderson and family of Sturgeon Lake, Minn.; D. B. Lewis of Eugene, Oregon; E. L. Havard of Magnolia, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hawkins of Mobile, Ala.

Man Is Slave Without Use of Machines

Until machines and power came to his rescue, man had to work from dawn to dusk to produce enough to keep himself and his family alive. His lot did not improve through any schemes for dividing wealth; there was little wealth to be divided. Only because of machines does the average man today enjoy more comforts and luxuries than even a king could possess in the days when everything had to be produced by human toil and sweat.

Yet even now there are people some in positions of leadership, who still fear progress in industry. They say that new methods of automatic production automation, may leave man the servant of the machine. But the record proves that machines multiply both jobs and earning power; provide more goods and leisure to enjoy them. Without machines, man is a slave to nature and necessity. With machines, he becomes the master.

"The Great Waltz" Opened August 6, '56

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 10.—Liberace and "The Great Waltz" have been combined by the State Fair Musicals to give patrons one of the most beautiful and spectacular productions in the Fifteen year history of the Musicals. "The Great Waltz", which opened Aug. 6 in the air-conditioned State Fair Auditorium, will play through Aug. 19.

The Strauss waltzes give the great entertainer opportunity to display the piano style that has made him the idol of millions. And set to lyrics, the waltzes are lovely vocal vehicles for two beautiful young Metropolitan Opera sopranos, Jean Fenn and Lois Hunt. Brother George Liberace also turns in an admirable acting job as Johann Strauss the father.

"The Great Waltz" is the book show debut of Liberace and his brother George and has centered the attention of the theatrical world on Texas and the State Fair Musicals. It marks another "first" for Charles R. Meeker, Jr., producer of the State Fair Musicals. Incidentally preceding "The Great Waltz" he had introduced The Incomparable Hildegard in her acting debut.

Crozier To Work For Ralph Yarborough

Harry Benge Crozier, long time political reporter, will be a worker for Ralph Yarborough for governor from now until the second primary August 25, he announced Monday.

Crozier was identified with Coke Stevenson throughout the latter's political tenure. He was for 11 years a member and chairman of the Texas Employment Commission.

Crozier's first identification with state politics was as publicity man for Tof Connally and for Al Smith in Texas in the year when Connally was first elected to the senate and Smith was defeated by Herbert Hoover for the presidency.

"There are just two reasons why I want to take a part in this campaign," Crozier said.

"One is that I can't stomach the business of throwing aside, as a child does a toy he has tired of, the senatorial succession that Charles A. Culberson and Tom Connally each maintained so worthily for 24 years. Such a course smacks rather of conceit, vanity and office gluttony than statesmanship and a place in the fight for state sovereignty.

"My other reason is that I resent as every well informed Texan and every person who knows Judge Yarborough must, the persistent propaganda campaign that has been waged for four years to depict Yarborough as a dangerous radical and one who would stoop to shady politics. I have yet to hear any responsible person question Judge Yarborough's character, ability or fairness".
