

The Foundry Roundup

AUGUST, 1967

From the PRESIDENT'S DESK...

Fellow Employees:

The value of higher education cannot be measured in terms of dollars or by the size of the diploma, but is often expressed in terms of knowledge gained and the ability to learn and reason through one's educational training.

In the old days, it was considered that a high school education was sufficient for any occupation and, of course, it still is a great milestone of accomplishment. However, in this age of automatic machines and computers, it is almost a necessity to have a four-year college degree if one is considered for the better starting jobs.

Education cannot help but enlarge the natural powers of the mind and overcome that great enemy, ignorance. No better investment can be made by any parent than to invest in the education of his children or himself. A man cannot leave a better legacy to the world than a well-educated son or daughter.

On the other hand, education alone cannot assure you of a place in the sun. Abraham Lincoln once said that "I will study and get ready and perhaps my chance will come." Thomas Carlyle stated that it would be a tragedy for a man to die ignorant who had capacity for knowledge.

As we face a new school year, we, as parents, should insist that our children finish high school without question, and encourage them to enter the field of higher education in college. At the same time, we should not allow our own minds to become complacent about our jobs, but should continue to educate ourselves and learn to do our job better each day.

R. L. POLAND
President

TOMMIE FINLEY, right with the white shirt, watches the children ride. He has assistance from Trailer employees

HAPPINESS IS A PONY RIDE...

“ALL that you really have is what you give away.”

Some wise man a long time ago said something like this, although the quotation may not be exactly word for word.

Some of the Trailer Division employees are giving away much and are getting much in return.

Tommie Finley, a carpenter in the Float department of the Trailer division, has the Red Circle Pony Rides which he operates as a sideline. He sets aside each Tuesday night for children from the Lufkin State school and gives them free rides for about two hours.

Tommie is joined in this activity by many Trailer division employees who contribute money to buy the drinks for the children.

Each Tuesday around 6:15, the big yellow school bus loaded with excited children rolls to a stop at Tommie's place on the Paper Mill highway. With squeals of delight, the children run to the ponies.

Here again, Tommie has help from other generous people. His neighbors and their children come to assist Tommie with the 30 or more State School children. These friends lift the children onto the ponies and walk along beside them to assure their safety.

“I couldn't do this if it weren't for my friends and neighbors who help me,” Tommie says.

The children are given rides for about two hours. There is a rest period when they are given cold soda pop furnished by Trailer division employees.

The supervisors who come from the school with the children say the kids look forward eagerly to each Tuesday afternoon. There are about 100 children who participate in the pony rides, with some 30 to 35 coming each week.

Four other Lufkin Foundry employees were assisting Tommie when this reporter, along with the company photographer, went to interview Tommie and photograph the children.

Smith, foreman, in the Trailer division were helping with the children as well as V. W. (Rip) Busselle, Machine Shop employee.

Everyone was having a good time. Although the children were laughing and happy with their fun time, the neighbors and their children together with the Foundry employees were enjoying the event just as much if not more so.

They were giving of themselves for others.

Shop Talk

WE'VE heard some pretty big fish stories coming from the vicinity of Kurth Lake, and most of them have photographs to back up the tales.

The fishermen, however, are not limited to adults, and one employee's youngster brought in a good-sized bass in any fisherman's language.

Young Billy Temple, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. BILL TEMPLE, boated a 5-pound bass which was 19½ inches long. He and his father, who works in the Industrial Engineering department, were trolling with black and white Hellbenders when the fish struck at Billy's plug. He brought the bass to the boat all alone and all Bill contributed was the net to land him.

Billy's been fishing since he was six, and likes to fish just about better than anything else.

A/IC Charles H. Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. ALTON THOMPSON, was married to Miss Sandy Ruiz of Hale Center. The couple is living in Lubbock where Charles is stationed at Reese Air Force Base. His father works in the Trailer division.

Miss Lucy Grisham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. PERRY GRISHAM, was married July 14 to Dwight C. Richardson of Pollok. Her father is employed in the Material Control department.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. LESLEY BROOKS on the birth of Stacey Lynn who was born July 2, 1967. His father works in the Drafting department. He has two grandfathers employed by Lufkin Foundry, JACK BROOKS and CLETUS RUSSELL, both in the Assembly & Shipping department. His great-grandparents are Mr. & Mrs. P. D. Allbritton, Mrs. Edie Brooks, Mrs. J. W. Russell of Huntington, and Mr. and Mrs. Andy Armhaust of Salina, Kansas. Great-Granddaddy Allbritton is a retired Machine Shop employee.

Mr. and Mrs. JUDGE HUTSON and their granddaughter, Sharon Sayers of Houston, spent an enjoyable vacation touring West Texas, New Mexico and Old Mexico. They visited the Amisted Dam on the Rio Grande River, the home of Billy Sol Estes, and saw where Judge Roy Bean administered his notorious Law West of the Pecos. They toured Carlsbad Caverns and ate lunch 750 feet underground.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. EDDIE MASK on the arrival of Shrona who was born July 3, 1967, weighing eight pounds, six ounces. Her father works in the Assembly and Shipping department.

It all happened one Saturday night in Beaumont at the Holiday Inn. Some Lufkin Foundry employees were attending a square dance in that city and were attired in colorful, western clothes. While their wives were getting dressed, JOE PERKINS, insurance officer; AL MALLONEE, gear cutters; and CHARLIE HAMILTON, Trailer parts department, were standing in the lobby watching the passing parade.

Suddenly, a lady dressed in slacks accompanied by three children walked up to Joe. Thinking, because of his western costume, that he was employed by the motel, she asked, "Will it be all right for me to eat in the dining room in my slacks?"

Joe played the part and answered smoothly, "Why, of course, ma'am, walk right in."

The three men laughed good-naturedly over the incident and continued to stand in the lobby.

In a moment, a man came in off the patio and walked up to Charlie.

"Say, fellow," he said, "bring me some more ping pong balls. We need them outside by the pool; we want to get a game going."

Charlie was taken aback but finally answered, "I'm not an employee, sir; I'm a guest here as you are."

The man looked at Charlie's gaily embroidered cowboy shirt, bow tie, and cowboy boots, then shrugged his shoulders and walked away.

The Foundry boys decided they better get out of the lobby before the manager of the place came along and "worked them over" for loafing on the job!

Our best wishes go to LEEDEL LITTLE who retired May 26th, after 25 years of service with Lufkin Foundry. He was a cleaning machine operator in the Foundry department.

Upon behalf of the Company, ROBERT LANG, vice president and superintendent of the Foundry, presented Leedel with a gold watch, inscribed with the number of years he worked for the Foundry.

Leedel says he is doing a lot of fishing, but he hasn't made any spectacular catches lately because the weather has been too hot. But he's enjoying his re-irement. He told us he wore out one cleaning machine here at the Foundry and started on another, but decided he'd better quit before he wore that one out, too.

We wish him many years of happy, healthy retirement.

CHARLIE GAULT, foreman of the Assembly and Shipping department, has been made a grandfather for the twelfth time. His youngest daughter, Berlyn Craver, is the mother of a baby girl born July 5, weighing seven pounds, nine ounces. They live in Gulfport, Mississippi. This was Berlyn's fifth girl, and now Charlie has 12 grandchildren—11 girls and one boy.

ROBERT L. POLAND, president of the Company, and Mrs. Poland have ample reason to be proud of their two sons, Charles and John.

This summer Charles was on the South American cruise of the Texas Maritime Academy sponsored by Texas A & M University. He saw the ports of Port au Spain, Trinidad, Rio de Janeiro and Recife, Brazil, and Williamstad, Curacao. He earned nine hours of college credit while on this cruise, and will enter Texas A & M in September.

John has been president of both his sophomore and junior classes, president of Junior High Student Council, member of Senior High Student Council for two years, member of sophomore and junior Councils, Key Club, B squad and A squad basketball teams, and a Junior Deacon of the First Christian church. He will be a senior in High school beginning in September.

There are two other children in the Poland family. Robert, Jr. will be a junior at Stephen F. Austin State College, and Joy Dell, 12, will enter Lufkin Junior High school this Fall.

We were reading the Modern Machine Shop magazine for August and ran across a piece entitled "Everything But Character" which we thought was good reading. They gave credit for the piece to The Warner & Swasey Company who used it in one of their publications. It read like this:

"We mass-produce almost everything in this country—except character. It used to be that when you wanted something, you worked to earn it. Now you stage a riot to get it given to you at someone else's expense.

"If your father or grandfather lost his job, he took whatever work he could get, and he went (probably miles) to where there was work—any honest work—being done. Now hordes of relief 'clients' refuse a job unless it is to their liking, and they demand the job be brought to them in their community.

"This nation was built by immigrants (beginning in the 1600's and earlier) who struggled here for opportunity, and would have scorned the false idea of 'something for nothing.' Now it seems to be an almost universal (and all-too-often the only) ambition.

"It used to take a lifetime of grueling work and scrimping for a family or a country to earn a little surplus, a taste of security. Now mobs of stupid 'students' and whole 'emerging nations' demand they be given it, out of your earnings and with no effort on their part.

"Minority groups all over the earth seem to think the world owes them everything they want. So vicious destructiveness makes necessary higher taxes to pay for more police to protect decent citizens; higher taxes for playgrounds and parks which hoodlums promptly make unsafe; higher taxes for schooling for gangs who don't seem to want or are unable to be educated. The minority groups whose rights no one seems to consider are the taxpayers and decent citizens—who may have been pampering evil too long.

Mr. and Mrs. MITCHELL O'NEILL are the proud parents of a baby girl born July 6, 1967. Patricia Jo weighed seven pounds, nine ounces. Her father works in the Industrial Engineering department.

DANNY MARTIN, Engineering Department, landed an eight pound bass while trolling with a hellbender at Kurth Lake on July 11. And he has photographic proof of it!

And we have another fisherman who brought back the proof of his fishing prowess. EULEN PARRISH, Accounting department, spent some of his vacation time fishing Kurth Lake, and landed four bass that would make any fisherman's eyes open wide. The bass weighed six and three-quarters, four and three-quarters, and two weighed five pounds each, for a total of 21½ pounds!

We are always happy to receive news items for this column. If something happens in your family, share it with others. Drop us a note and send along your snapshots. We'll return the snapshots after we use them. Just address your note to Editor, Foundry Roundup, Lufkin Foundry & Machine Company, Lufkin, Texas 75901.

How would You like to RETIRE ON $560 monthly?

THERE'S a catch to it . . . but it is possible.

According to the Washington Report of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, here's how you could speculate about your retirement.

If you make $6,600 or more a year, you now pay $290.40 into the social security fund. Lufkin Foundry also pays another $290.40 for a yearly total of $580.80.

Let's explore this payment a little further. Suppose you just started working for your company and your age is 21, and suppose you work until you are 65. If there were no more increases in social security payments (and there are many already scheduled under existing law), that would mean total contributions by you and your company of $25,555.20 during the 44 years of your employment.

If these contributions were placed in a trust fund accruing 4 per cent interest per year, interest over 44 years would amount to approximately $22,500. That means at age 65, you would have at least $48,055 in your account.

With that amount of money in the bank drawing 4 per cent interest, you could withdraw $160 per month for the rest of your life in interest alone and never touch the principal.

Or if you chose to spend all you had accumulated in your account, you could draw about $560 a month for 10 years before you ran out of funds.

and you could also work and earn as much as you pleased without losing this income. On the other hand, the maximum amount payable now under social security is only $140.00 a month.

Now, new major social security changes are being considered by Congress which will increase both the rates and the amount of earnings taxed by social security (see chart on opposite page). Under this proposal, the present combined employee-employer annual tax of $580 will be increased by nearly 116 per cent to $1,252 in 1987.

Since this vitally affects you, isn't it time to familiarize yourself with these new social security tax proposals?

And wouldn't it be a good idea to make sure your Congressman knows your views about this pending legislation?

A funeral happened to be passing by as an armored truck from a bank pulled up to the intersection. Since he couldn't cut through the procession, the driver joined it. An onlooker, impressed by the spectacle of the truck in the center of the funeral cortege, remarked to a friend: "What do you know? You can take it with you!"

A weary salesman dragged out a dozen pairs of shoes for a woman customer. None of them were right for one reason or another. Finally, the salesman sat down, lit a cigarette and said, "Mind if I rest for a few minutes, madam? Your feet are killing me."

A Sunday school class was being quizzed on the prodigal son. The teacher asked one youngster, "Who was sorry when the prodigal son returned home?"

The boy gave it a lot of deep thought, then said: "The fatted calf?"

The honeymoon is over when the bride stops crying on your shoulder—and starts jumping on your neck.

A housewife called the courthouse to report a skunk in her cellar. The officer told the woman to make a trail of bread crumbs from the cellar to the yard and wait for the skunk to follow it outside.

A little later the woman called back, "I did what you told me. Now I have two skunks in my cellar."

A young father was pushing a baby carriage in which an infant was screaming. Wheeling the howling baby along, he kept murmuring, "Easy now, Donald. Keep calm, Donald. Steady boy. It's all right, Donald."

A mother passing by said, "You certainly know how to talk to an upset child—quietly and gently." Leaning over the carriage, she said, "What seems to be the trouble, Donald?"

"Oh, no," said the father. "He's Henry. I'm Donald."

A pupil defined "Socialized Medicine" this way: "Socialized Medicine is when parents have a party and talk about their operations."

Golfer: "I'm eager to make this shot. That's my mother-in-law on the clubhouse porch."

Friend: "Don't be silly that's over 200 yards. You can't hit her from here."

General Sherman was once a guest of honor at a banquet which was followed by a reception. Among the people who shook hands with him was a man whose face was familiar, but whom he could not place.

"Who are you?" the general asked in a whisper, as he heartily welcomed the guest.

The man's face flushed as he answered, "Made your shirts, sir."

"Ah, of course," exclaimed the general. Then turning to the receiving committee, he said, "Gentlemen, allow me to present Major Shurtz."

A pedestrian, confronted by the policeman after proceeding across the street in defiance of the blinking "Don't Walk" sign protested that he was innocent of any wrongdoing.

"Certainly you were aware of the 'Don't Walk' sign," the officer admonished.

"I saw it," answered the pedestrian. "But I thought it was an advertisement for the bus company."

At middle age, your tripping becomes less light and more fantastic.

A foreign student at the University assured his faculty advisor: "I glad to say no trouble with English language—just the idiotisms."

A firm, having trouble collecting on an account, finally wrote: "Dear Mr. Smith: What would your neighbors think if we came to your town and repossessed your car?"

A week later they got their letter back. Scrawled on it was: "Sir, I took the above matter up with my neighbors and they think it would be a lousy trick. Sincerely, Lester Smith."

Personnel manager: "For this job we want a responsible man."

Applicant: "That's me. Wherever I've worked, if anything went wrong, they said I was responsible."

A socially ambitious young wife had been making her husband's life miserable by trying to get him to rent a more expensive apartment. Every evening on his return from work she would start harping on the subject.

Finally one night he walked into the kitchen and gave her a big hug.

"Good news, dear! We don't have to move—the landlord just raised our rent."

Most men have a way with women, but it's seldom their own.

"Do you think a woman believes you when you tell her she is the first girl you ever loved?"

"Yes, if you're the first liar she has ever met."
